Norah Head Rally – July 2026

We were among a few members who were lucky enough to take the opportunity to arrive at Norah Head on the Monday and enjoy the beautiful sunny weather.... shame about that chilly breeze though.

After setting up it was time for a lovely walk in the sunshine to see if we could see any whales. A few splashes were seen in the distance as we enjoyed the scenery.

Tuesday – Morning tea in the sunshine with jackets and jumpers on. Following morning tea, it was off for walks and drives around the area. We visited the lighthouse and took in the views with quite a few people out fishing or just walking on the rocks below.

Keith set up ladder golf at 3pm so that we could get some games in and have a cuppa before the sun disappeared.

Wednesday a few more members arrived and the catching up continued. The remainder of the day was spent with either more walks, drives, or cuppas and chatting in the sunshine.

Thursday – We woke to a beautiful sunny day again. Sadly, the cold breeze is still blowing.

A few more members arrived and set up.

The notice board was set up with a few taking photos of the information it contained. Morning tea was organised in a lovely sunny spot with a little protection from the wind. We watched as a caravan approached in the street behind and began circling as they searched for their site. Fingers crossed that they aren't looking for the site that we are enjoying our morning tea on! It was Ron and Di pulling up across the site and telling us that this is where they are booked in for. We thought that they were joking but alas they weren't. It was mayhem as we carried our chairs, a table, biscuits, cakes and our cuppas to a new sunny spot. Teddy, Pippa and Izzy even had to drag their beds to the new spot.

After lunch some went for the easy walk to the ocean to spot whales, some went shopping and some were carrying out repairs to Ros and Frank's van. Carole, David and Teddy have done quite a lot of walking and searching for whales during their stay here.

Friday – Another sunny day for everyone to enjoy as they whale-watched, trekked to the lighthouse, or just enjoyed catching up with everyone.

Paul and Di arrived at lunch time all ready to fit in as much as possible to their short stay.

Afternoon tea was organised out in the sun. There were so many travel stories being thrown around and equally as many "we've been there" causing much laughter.

We all laughed as Di M was asking Pippa to sit and Ron A instantly showed how he can sit as he waited for his biscuit.

As the shadows stretched longer around us it was time to go back to the vans for dinner.

Saturday – Another sunny day, but the temperature has dropped a little.

After morning tea our Games on the Green began. Teams were organised to play Disc Bowls, Finska and Ladder Golf. Competition was fierce with some questioning rules and calling out 'foot fault' often.

John drove back for the games and found that his awning had been taken over by some taking advantage for the wind break and the disc bowls were set up in his car space.

Keith and Ron A had gone back to the van to re-organise the teams which took some time. Paul went to see what was taking them so long and found them both asleep. At last, the teams were organised.... they claimed that they were AI generated.

Paul was given the job of clearing the Finska area by picking out all the grass which was growing through the matting on the site. Special jobs for special people who need to be kept busy.

During the games competition Paul offered the use of his caravan toilet to those who couldn't make it to the amenities. Only costing $10 entry. Where did he say he was going to keep the club flag?

Someone put of Ford sign on Ron A's caravan step.
